BREAD Listening Sessions

With the pandemic this year, racial unrest in the country, and an upcoming presidential election, we are more committed than ever to work for justice in Franklin County. All of these issues that BREAD is determined to make progress on help make our communities better and families safer: 1) affordable housing for families, 2) good paying jobs to low-income neighborhoods, 3) a photo ID for all city residents, 4) keeping children in school and out of the court system, 5) ending gun violence, and 6) ensuring senior citizens receive proper care and dignity. Once a year, BREAD holds listening sessions to build people power to make changes that affect everyone. This year since we continue to practice safe distancing, the listening sessions will be virtual. You can join us on zoom on Thursday, October 15 at 6:30 or Sunday, October 18 at 4:00 pm.
